TIDBITS® LOOKS BEHIND
"AS SEEN ON TV"
by Blue Sullivan

America is a country full of would-be inventors. For most, it's as simple as discovering a problem that no one's ever solved and coming up with a creative and inexpensive solution. Here are just a few of the countless TV marvels that have been advertised on our sets since this phenomenon began.

- A good example of the whole "discover a problem, discover a solution" method of inventing is the "Snap-It Screw." It's a method of replacing the tiny, and difficult to handle, screws that hold eyeglasses together.
- The "Snap-It Screw" was invented by Nancy Tedeschi. "The old saying that necessity is the mother of inventions is what inspired [it]," said Tedeschi. She meant it literally, as it was her own mother who inspired the invention's creation.
- Tedeschi's mother was overseas doing volunteer work when a hinge screw in her glasses broke. Left with no other immediate remedy, Tedeschi's mother pulled the pin out of one of her earrings and placed it where the former hinge had been.

- The best way to cook leafy, green veggies such as spinach and kale is to stir fry them in just the water left over from rinsing. It works very well to steam them, and adds no fat!
- Keep track of the capacity and dimensions of your cookware by using a permanent marker to notate the specifications on the bottom of each of your baking containers. This way, when a recipe calls for a 13-by-9 baking dish or a two-quart casserole dish, you can easily tell which one you need. This is especially important if you don't spend a lot of time cooking.
- "When you need to crush nuts or a cracker for crumbs and don't have a rolling pin, put them in a plastic bag and use a small can of soup to crush them." -- J.R. in Virginia
- To avoid a dirty-smelling hamper, place a single sheet of fabric softener in the bottom of your laundry closet or in the hamper itself.
- "To keep sauces from splattering and dirtying the inside of your microwave, cover the food with a damp paper towel or a coffee filter." -- E.C. in Utah
- "Unload the bottom rack of the dishwasher first. This way, you won't wet the dishes on the bottom if any pooled water on the top shelf spills. I thought everyone did it this way, but then my boyfriend thought I was such a genius that I figured I would share this hint with others!" -- A Reader, via email

- "She wore this dangling bead from the hinge of her glasses for about a year. She traveled to several foreign countries with it in, and people would literally stop her on the streets and ask her where she got this charm," said Tedeschi. "My mom came to me and said, 'You have to invent charms for glasses.'"
- For Tedeschi, inventing the "Snap-It Screw" was the easy part. The difficult part was doing all the things necessary to produce and market her new invention. She had to set up patents all over the world. She had to set up a factory in China and a warehouse in Seattle, Washington. She had to spend countless hours marketing her idea to retailers. Today, the "Snap-It Screw" is a success, and Tedeschi says that despite all the hard work, she wouldn't change a thing.
- "Bling To Go" was invented by Abby Appelt during a period where she was forced to use crutches. She felt the dull metal could use a little pizzazz. So she created some decorative wrap-on decals to give her crutches some personality, and her invention was born.
- Appelt said, "When I wore my crutch décor, I had people stop me, literally everywhere I went, complimenting me on how awesome my crutches were!"
- As Appelt notes, people decorate a million different things with stickers, so it made sense to do likewise with crutches.
- "Bling To Go" works on crutches, canes, walkers and bed poles. It's a medical grade product that can be sanitized and cleaned, so it presents no health hazard to the user. The company's slogan is "express your health," and they back up their words by being active contributors to several physical and emotional health charities.

Easy Two-Toned Garden Soup

"The best tasting soups of summer are the simplest to make," said 28-year-old chef Becca Berroteran recently to a group of moms at Mission Springs Conference Center in Scotts Valley, Calif. "And each bowlful can look like a work of art, too," she added.

In a nod to her Mexican heritage, we watched attentively as she ladled red pepper soup into one side of a soup bowl while at the same time ladling a fresh zucchini soup in the other.

"Busy families can make a two-toned garden soup in less than an hour on the stove or microwave," she said as she grabbed a squeeze bottle to demonstrate the garnish. "Kids love to top the servings with cream sauce designs and swirls or let them simply add popcorn or crunched chips."

Here are the basic how-tos. Add your favorite fresh herbs and seasonings to make the soup your own, and then have fun impressing your next dinner guests.

TWO-TONED GARDEN SOUP

- Zucchini Soup ingredients
3 medium zucchini, roughly chopped
2 cups chicken broth
1/2 cup chopped yellow onion
1/2 tablespoon chopped fresh garlic
Salt and pepper

Bring the zucchini, broth, onions, garlic and seasonings to a boil, stirring frequently. Simmer until zucchini is soft, about 20 minutes. Use immersion hand blender to blend.

Roasted Red Pepper Soup ingredients

- 2 (12-ounce) jars fire roasted red peppers, drained
2 cups beef broth
Tapatio hot sauce (optional)

Cook peppers and beef stock until heated through. Use immersion hand blender to blend.

Ladle hot soups simultaneously into each half of a soup bowl, then "paint" designs with avocado cream sauce.

Avocado Cream Sauce

Stir together 1/4 mashed ripe avocado, 2 tablespoons sour cream, 1/8 teaspoon cumin and a splash of milk to make it "squeezable." Spoon into a squeeze bottle and create these easy designs on top of the two-tone soup. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Hearts

Squeeze out several dime-size dots. Dip into the middle of a dot with a chopstick or skewer and drag down to form a heart. Continue to the next dot.

Starburst

Squeeze a quarter-size dot in the center of the soup. Dip a toothpick in the center and lightly drag out to make a line. Repeat in all directions.

ABC's

Squeeze the shape of the first letter of names of each guest on the soup. Set the bowls around the table when you are ready to eat for edible place cards.

Tip: Prepared ranch dressing is a quick substitute for the avocado cream sauce.

- Perhaps one of the more peculiar and innovative creations making the invention circuit is the "Bogdon Bass." It's a standing bass guitar whose main component is a cardboard box!
- The "Bogdon Bass" is literally a large cardboard box sealed with tape, with a wooden neck and vinyl strings. It can be played with or without an amplifier. Because of the use of these materials, it is lightweight, inexpensive and recyclable.
- This peculiar instrument was invented by a man named Chris Badynee. He named the instrument after his father, Bogdon.
- "The inspiration to make my Bogdon Box Bass was that I had the desire to own something that I couldn't afford, so I made one myself," explained Badynee. "All I wanted was a natural-sounding upright bass for my own home recordings of songs I wrote."
- After assembling what he thought was just a silly idea only he'd use, Badynee was shocked by how good the makeshift instrument sounded. "[It] sounded so fantastic that I had to tell someone. So I filmed a 60-second video and posted it on the web. I got 1,000 hits on Youtube in less than a day."
- The video became a bit of a viral sensation, and Badynee was asked by "Good Morning, America" for the right to show the video on their program.
- Almost immediately after the video was shown on television, Badynee received requests to buy a "Bogdon Box." He brought in his uncle and a couple of acoustic technicians to help him perfect it. Once they got the instrument exactly right, they began selling it on Ebay to a huge response. Hundreds were sold, almost as quickly as they could turn them out.
- Badynee took the profits from those sales to protect and patent his invention. Eventually, his belief in his invention paid off in praise, when his bass was given a rave review in "Bass Player Magazine."
- A well-known invention marketed via television infomercials is the Snuggie. This blanket with sleeves solved a problem most people didn't even know they had.
- Since it covers your entire body but keeps your hands free thanks to its armholes, Snuggie wearers stay warm while still retaining the ability to take sip of their drink, change the channel or turn the page of a book.

Strange BUT TRUE

- It's still not known who made the following sage observation: "To succeed in politics, it is sometimes necessary to rise above your principles."
- It was beloved American poet Robert Frost who made the following sage observation: "A bank is a place where they lend you an umbrella in fair weather and ask for it back when it begins to rain."
- In 1938, Time magazine featured Adolph Hitler on the cover as its Man of the Year.
- You might be surprised at some of the amazing feats that can be accomplished with the aid of modern medicine. In 2008, two women in India gave birth at the age of 70. With the aid of egg donation and postmenopausal in vitro fertilization, Rajo Devi Lohan gave birth to her only child, a girl. Charan Singh Panwar and his wife, Omkari Panwar, already had two daughters and five grandchildren, but they wanted a son. Using the same procedure, Omkari had twins, a boy and a girl.

- The first time a toilet was ever seen on television was in the pilot episode of "Leave It to Beaver," in 1957.
 - The most common name in the world is Muhammed.
 - If you live in the South, home of huge roaches, you probably won't be surprised to learn that a cockroach can live for a week without a head. When the headless insect does finally die, it's from starvation, not from the loss of its head.
 - Those who study such things say that there are 45,000 chickens for every person on the planet.
- Thought for the Day: "The reason that adulation is not displeasing is that, though untrue, it shows one to be of consequence enough, in one way or other, to induce people to lie." -- Lord Byron

"The HISTORY of PLURAL MARRIAGE"
By Arnold Boss
"In 1943, 15 men were taken from their families and sent to prison for living plural Marriage. Among those was one Arnold Boss. Given the opportunity to sign a paper and go home to his family, Arnold decided to stay in prison another 2 years rather than denounce his beliefs even if only on paper.
This 7 volume set of The History of Plural Marriage among the Mormon People is a true labor of love which Arnold carefully and diligently has compiled some of the most fascinating historical information.
While the book gears itself toward Plural Marriage, every person calling themselves a latter day saint would benefit from the insight into Church history and the impact on our modern day lives."
-Keepersbooksite
"During June, 1938, I have been laboring continuously in checking material previously copied for use in my "History of Plural Marriage Among the Mormon People". Most of this material I copied from old records in the Deseret News vaults. It has been a secret work, and has been unusual the way permission has been extended me to have access to the vault. I have hidden my real purpose in going there, but much courtesy has been extended me. Obviously, if it was known what I was searching for, and the material copied, this privilege would have been denied me." - Arnold Boss

- The Snuggie was introduced in 2008 and was an instant success. By 2009, 20 million Snuggies had been sold. But there was actually a similar product already on the market, The Slanket, invented by Gary Clegg when he was a college freshman.
- Because it is difficult to patent a textile product, Clegg had not patented The Slanket, so the makers of the Snuggie were able to make and market their product legally.
- Imitation may be the sincerest form of flattery, but it's a safe bet that Clegg felt something other than pride when he first saw the Snuggie.

FAMOUS LANDMARKS OF THE WORLD: SUNSET BOULEVARD

As one of Los Angeles' most popular entertainment districts and tourist destinations, Sunset Boulevard is home to a variety of trendy restaurants, nightclubs, attractions, shopping spots and much more.

- Sunset Boulevard is an approximately 22-mile-long, immensely famous street beginning in downtown Los Angeles and continuing west toward the Pacific. It eventually becomes Sunset Strip as it runs through Beverly Hills, Bel Air, Santa Monica and ends at the ocean.
- The boulevard is a direct link between the lower-income areas of Hollywood and the lush, incredibly upscale ones. As the road continues west, it undergoes several transformations. It gives tourists the ability to experience both sides of Hollywood and is rich with sights and attractions all along the way.

Acupuncture for Pets?

By Samantha Mazzotta

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I recently read an advertisement by a pet hospital that is offering acupuncture for pets. Does this even work for pets? I'm skeptical. — Janice T., Orlando, Fla.

DEAR JANICE: I can't say for sure, but the idea of providing acupuncture treatment for pets is intriguing. Acupuncture has been shown to have positive results for humans trying to manage pain, and some anecdotal reports indicate that acupuncture might help reduce pain in animals, as well. Wadsworth Animal Hospital in Lakewood, Colo., for example, recently reported that as many as 75 percent of the pets in its care treated with acupuncture experienced "a significant or major improvement, although some symptoms may remain." The hospital used acupuncture to treat pets suffering from arthritis, hip dysplasia, nerve damage or other chronic health conditions. Pet acupuncture sounds pretty odd, and it's really a new type of treatment for pets, coming into vogue just in the past few decades. But it's not the only holistic pet treatment out there that looks to help improve pets' health without the use of drugs or surgery. And it's growing in popularity: some 800 pet acupuncturists are registered with the American Academy of Veterinary Acupuncture (<http://www.aava.org>), the Washington Post reports, an increase of 600 since 2002. So, how do you find a qualified acupuncturist for your pet? The AAVA has a listing on its site, but be sure to ask questions of the pet acupuncturist you find locally. He or she should be certified to practice veterinary medicine as well as veterinary acupuncture.

NUGGET OF KNOWLEDGE

The electronic mail, or "e-mail," isn't a new invention. Actually, e-mail has been around for 40 years. The first e-mail was sent in 1972 by Ray Tomlinson. He also came up with the idea of using the "@" sign to separate the computer and user names. Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain sent her first e-mail in 1976!

- It encompasses a surplus of must-see sites including Echo Park, Hollywood Memorial Park, Paramount Studios, KTLA Studios, Fox Network, Columbia Square and the iconic Sunset Grill made famous by Don Henley's song.
- It is at least four lanes its entire duration, and thanks to its curvy, winding route and frequent traffic congestion, car accidents are prevalent.
- It is sometimes referred to as "Guitar Row," as it is home to a wide selection of guitar stores and music-industry-related buildings.
- One of the most famous nightclubs in the '40s and '50s was the glamorous Earl Carroll Theatre on Sunset, said to host the most beautiful girls in the world. After it was sold, it functioned as Moulin Rouge for a number of years.
- Hollywood High School, built in 1904, is on Sunset Boulevard and has a reputation for being one of the most beautiful schools in the state. Many famous entertainment personalities are among its graduates.
- The iconic thoroughfare inspired the popular 1950s feature film "Sunset Boulevard," starring William Holden and Gloria Swanson. There was also a 1993 musical named "Sunset Boulevard" that starred Glen Close.
- Sunset Boulevard has been highlighted on TV shows, album covers and in song names, including the 1960s TV series "77 Sunset Strip" and the 1990s' "Below Sunset."
- The best known section of Sunset Boulevard is Sunset Strip, which before its glory days, was nothing more than scattered buildings and nurseries. Once the movie industry took off, studios and glamorous houses began popping up everywhere. It was once called Beverly Boulevard.
- Sunset Strip is about 1.5 miles long. It got its name because many Los Angeles County workers referred to it as "that strip" for years.
- Sunset Boulevard can brag that it has hosted most of the early motion picture companies; the area near the intersection of Gower Street was famous for the many Westerns made there. However, this section was also known as "Poverty Row," as many of the films made there failed.
- Although many film companies popped up, the smaller ones tended to end quickly — some of them included California Film Co., Century Film Co., H. Paulis Studio and Francis Ford Studio.

SOFA SHOPPING

Having provided some fun facts about those marvelous inventions sold on TV, it makes sense to share a little interesting information about the evolution of home shopping. For anyone who has ever enjoyed the luxury of finding a good deal from the comfort of their couch, here's how it all came about.

- The first example of "home shopping" as we know it was offered by The Home Shopping Network (or HSN). HSN started with humble beginnings in 1977 in Clearwater, Florida, by selling 112 electronic can openers on an AM radio station. This turned into a regular radio shopping show called "Suncoast Bargainers."
- In 1981, the televised "Home Shopping Channel" was launched as a Tampa Bay local access cable channel. In 1985, it began broadcasting nationwide, 24-hours a day on cable and local TV.
- Today, The Home Shopping Network is a $3 billion retailer that stretches across multiple channels and includes online, mobile, catalog and brick and mortar stores. It offers products 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 364 days a year.
- HSN now reaches 96 million homes, and its online site is one of the top 10 e-commerce sites on the web. Its catalog division, Cornerstone, distributes 275 million catalogs a year. That's a lot of postage!
- In 2010, legendary rocker Rod Stewart was the first popular performer to debut a new album on a shopping channel. He debuted his CD "Fly Me To The Moon" with a live, one-hour concert on HSN. It was the highest viewed program in the history of the network and broke all its music sales records.
- The other prominent shopping channel is QVC. It was founded in 1986 by Joseph Segel, founder of the Franklin Mint. Seasoned viewers of late-night TV commercials will recognize the Franklin Mint as the seller of commemorative plates, figurines, painted coins and other collectible items.
- QVC's first live broadcast was shot in a studio in West Chester, Pennsylvania. The company broke American business records for sales by a new public company. Part of its early success came through an exclusive agreement with Sears to sell their products on the air.
- Showing the influence of home shopping as more than just niche programming, QVC reported record sales of T-shirts heralding "Dallas Cowboys 1994 Super Bowl Champs." The network sold over 6,000 shirts in just the first few seconds after the game ended!
- In 1995, QVC's success in home shopping was expressed by a few remarkable landmarks. In March of that year, they recorded over 250,000 phone calls in a single day.
- It also shipped its 200 millionth package during March of that year, the equivalent of one package for every person in America at the time. In August of that year, QVC held a "Klondike Gold Rush Day," where revenues topped $19 million dollars in 24 hours.
- Today, QVC receives more than 181 million calls in the United States per year, and it ships about 166 million packages worldwide. Its reach is to more than 166 million homes, and sales recently topped $7 billion in a single year.
